PECKVILLE.

Politics are waxing hard and hot in the First and Third wards and the candidates are all working hard for the privilege of representing their wards.

The primaries of the both wards will be held tomorrow (Friday) evening for ward officers.

William Smeator and William Day are testing their merits for the office of councilman of the First ward to succeed Windsor Foster, whose term expires, S. M. Rogers is looking for the office of school director to fill the office of J. D. Peck, whose term expires, T. U. Spangenberg and Herbert Frear are both seeking the office of judge of election in the Third ward.

Richard James and W. B. Stevens are fighting hard for the councilman honors; only one is to be elected. Mr. Stevens is seeking re-nomination. T. U. Thorpe and Jas. Nute are opponents for school director. Mr. Thorpe is also asking for a re-nomination. Sabbath Williams, of the First ward, is asking for the office of burgess. He is a man of good business abilities, and is well qualified to perform the duties of the office of tax collector. There are seven candidates in the field at present: Walter Lloyd, William J. Bonner, William Johns and Harry Wisenburg, of the First ward; Gomer Reeder and David Williams, of the Third ward; and Samuel Parry, of the Second ward.

L. B. Thompson, of the Third ward, is a candidate for the office of judge of election.

Services over the remains of the late Mrs. J. B. Gonyon were held at her residence here yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. R. Ellis, of the Blakely Baptist church, of which she was a member.

The wide acquaintance of the deceased, and the high esteem in which she was held brought a very large attendance of friends from localities between Scranton and Carbondale to the funeral. Rev. Mr. Ellis took for his text the first and fourth verses of the fifth chapter of II Corinthians, and paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased as a mother, and spoke feelingly of her Christian character and her implicit trust in God.

The singing was led by a quartette consisting of W. W. Watkins, of Peckville; Z. D. Edwards, of Blakely; Miss Sands, of Peckville; and Mrs. E. B. Mitchell, of Blakely. The selections rendered were from the Baptist hymnal, "Come Ye Disconsolate," "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide with Me." The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The six flower bearers were from the teachers of our public schools, Misses Mamie Murphy, Jennie Benjamin, Effie Curtis, Bertha Williams, Katie Dodson and Nellie Peck. The pall-bearers were Edson S. Peck, Thos. Williams, Fremont Ferris, George Kingsley, Bert Kingsley and Edward Kingsley. All arrangements of the deceased, and spoke feelingly of her Christian character and her implicit trust in God.

What Sarah Bernhard says

We Lead the March And All the Fashionable Ladies Fall in Line.

We make no clearance sale announcements in order to get rid of a lot of undesirable stock. It seems somewhat strange that so many of our neighbor merchants come out with flaming announcements of remarkable reductions in all their line of goods about this season of the year. Do you not think these clearance sales somewhat deceptive? Not that our merchants would do it intentionally, but they are simply resorting to a custom that has become popular and catches the eye. We have an extraordinary advantage in that we at all times sell our goods at the lowest possible figures, and as a result command a big trade. Winter, summer, spring and autumn, dull seasons and brisk seasons. The immense business that we do enables us to sell the newest articles in the market. We do not wait until an article is shop-worn before we reduce our prices.

We Fix Our Prices on a Right Basis at the Start.

consequently we require no clearance sale or other deceptive means of bringing the people in to be hoodwinked. Call and see if the above assertion is not true in every detail.

And oblige, yours truly, Z. WEINGART.
